CALIPER

The diameter of a trunk as measured at a height of four feet above grade.

CRITICAL ROOT RADIUS (CRR)

The zone around the base of a tree where the majority of the root system is found. This zone is calculated by multiplying the diameter at breast height (DBH) of the tree by 1.5 feet. For example: a tree with a 6” DBH would have a CRR = 6”x1.5’ = 9’.

CROP

To cut off the branches, top or trunk of a tree.

CRITICAL FOOTPRINT AREA

An area of new home construction that includes the portions of a private residential lot reserved for driveways and the actual building foot print plus an additional 40 feet beyond the perimeter of the building footprint and septic field.

DIAMETER AT BREAST HEIGHT (DBH)

The diameter of the trunk of a mature tree generally measured at a point four and a half feet above ground level from the uphill side of the tree. For species of trees where the main trunk divides below the 4 ½ foot height, the DBH shall be measured at the highest point before any division.

HAZARD TREE

Any nursery stock tree with a caliper measurement of 2.5 inches, any flowering or ornamental tree with a caliper measurement of three inches or greater, any deciduous or coniferous tree of six-inch caliper or greater or any coniferous tree eight feet or greater in height. A woody perennial plant, typically having a single stem or trunk growing to a considerable height and bearing lateral branches at some distance from the ground.
